Senators back P-Noy sacking of Merci aide

Manila — A coalition of senators has backed President Benigno Aquino III's decision to sack the aide of the Philippine National Police (PNP) chief, General Romeo Prudente, after the aide was found guilty of sexual harassment.

The senators, led by Senate President Juan Ponce Enrile, voted 12-9 to support the President's decision. The senators argued that the President's action was a necessary step to ensure the integrity of the PNP and to protect the public from sexual harassment.

The aide, a 35-year-old man, was found guilty of sexually harassing a 28-year-old female police officer. The officer filed a complaint with the PNP's Office of the Ombudsman, which conducted an investigation and found the aide guilty.

The President announced the aide's dismissal on Tuesday. He said that the aide's actions were "unbecoming of a police officer" and that he was "disappointed" in the aide.

The aide's dismissal was met with mixed reactions. Some people praised the President's decision, while others argued that the aide should have been given a chance to defend himself.

The senators' support for the President's decision was seen as a strong endorsement of his actions. It also showed that the senators were willing to back the President's decision to take action against a high-ranking official.

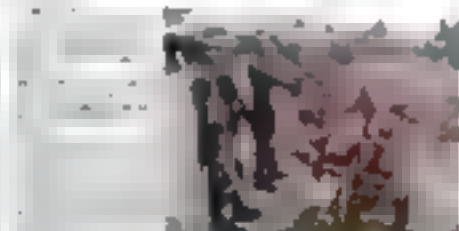

Agusan hostage negotiations bog down

Manila — Hostage negotiations in Agusan del Sur province have bogged down, with the Philippine National Police (PNP) and the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI) struggling to reach an agreement with the rebels.

The PNP and NBI have been in talks with the rebels for several days, but no agreement has been reached. The rebels are demanding the release of their prisoners and the withdrawal of government forces from the area.

The government forces have been unable to enter the area, as the rebels have set up a roadblock. The rebels have also threatened to kill the hostages if their demands are not met.

The situation in Agusan del Sur is tense, with both sides preparing for a possible escalation of violence. The government is determined to rescue the hostages and bring the rebels to justice.

Industry ripe for consolidation, says exec

MANILA, Philippines — The oil and gas industry is ripe for consolidation, says a senior executive at a major oil company. He predicts that within the next few years, there will be significant mergers and acquisitions in the sector.

The executive, who has over 20 years of experience in the industry, believes that the current market conditions are ideal for consolidation. He points to the high costs of exploration and production, as well as the need for companies to diversify their portfolios, as key factors driving the trend.

He also notes that the global oil market is becoming increasingly competitive, and that companies need to scale up their operations to remain viable. This, he argues, will lead to a wave of mergers and acquisitions in the coming years.

While the executive acknowledges the challenges of consolidation, he remains optimistic about the future of the industry. He believes that a more consolidated industry will be better equipped to handle the challenges of the future, including the transition to a low-carbon economy.

Megalink to provide ATM services for small banks

By John F. Obispo

MANILA, Philippines — Megalink, a leading ATM network provider, has announced a new partnership with several small banks to provide ATM services. The move is part of Megalink's strategy to expand its reach and provide more comprehensive financial services to its customers.

The partnership involves Megalink providing the ATM infrastructure and services, while the banks handle the day-to-day operations. This arrangement allows the banks to offer ATM services without the high costs of owning and maintaining their own networks.

Megalink's CEO expressed his confidence in the partnership, stating that it will significantly improve the banking experience for customers of the participating banks. He also noted that the partnership is a testament to Megalink's commitment to innovation and customer service.

BIR ordered to refund P77.25M to Semirara

MANILA, Philippines — The Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR) has been ordered by the Supreme Court to refund P77.25 million to Semirara Mining and Industrial Corporation. The ruling is a significant victory for Semirara, which has been fighting the BIR's assessment of taxes for several years.

The Supreme Court found that the BIR's assessment was based on incorrect information and that Semirara had a right to a refund. The court's decision is a landmark case for the mining industry, as it sets a precedent for how taxes should be assessed and refunded.

Semirara's CEO expressed his relief and satisfaction with the court's decision, stating that it will allow the company to focus on its core business and contribute to the local economy. He also thanked the court for its fair and just ruling.

Vehicle supply still enough, says Camp

By Joseph A. Tan

MANILA, Philippines — Despite concerns about a shortage of vehicles, the Department of Transportation (DOTr) has stated that the current supply is still sufficient to meet demand. The DOTr's statement comes in response to reports that several major transportation projects are set to begin, which could lead to a surge in vehicle demand.

The DOTr's spokesperson emphasized that the government has a robust plan in place to ensure that there are enough vehicles to support the growing transportation network. He also noted that the government is working to attract private investment in the vehicle manufacturing sector to further increase supply.

While the DOTr's statement provides some reassurance, some industry experts remain cautious. They point to the long lead times for vehicle production and the potential for supply chain disruptions as factors that could lead to shortages in the future.

Wealth

MANILA, Philippines — A new report from a leading financial institution shows that the wealth of the top 1% of Filipinos has increased significantly over the past year. The report highlights the growing influence of the wealthy elite in the country's economy and politics.

The report also notes that the wealth gap between the rich and the poor is widening, which could have long-term implications for the country's social and economic stability. It calls for more policies to address income inequality and promote inclusive growth.

Ford PH

MANILA, Philippines — Ford Philippines has announced a new line of vehicles, including a compact car and a mid-size sedan. The new models are designed to meet the needs of Filipino consumers and are expected to be launched in the coming months.

Ford PH's CEO expressed his excitement about the new line, stating that it represents a significant investment in the company's future in the Philippines. He also noted that the new vehicles will offer better performance, fuel efficiency, and safety features than their competitors.

The launch of the new line is part of Ford PH's strategy to expand its market share and provide more options for its customers. The company is confident that the new vehicles will be a success in the Philippine market.

Broker says PH trade to offset slump in HK

MANILA, Philippines — A leading trade broker has predicted that the Philippines' trade with the United States will help offset a slump in trade with Hong Kong. The broker's analysis is based on recent trade data and forecasts for the coming year.

The broker noted that the Philippines has a strong trade relationship with the United States, particularly in the areas of agriculture, manufacturing, and services. He believes that this relationship will continue to grow, providing a stable source of trade for the Philippines.

At the same time, the broker acknowledged that trade with Hong Kong has been affected by various factors, including the global economic downturn. However, he remains optimistic about the Philippines' trade prospects, particularly with the United States.

Pacific trade push seen gaining momentum

MANILA, Philippines — The push for a free trade zone in the Pacific region is gaining momentum, with several countries vying to be the first to establish such a zone. The United States, Japan, and the European Union are among the leading contenders. The Philippines is also actively participating in the discussions, hoping to secure a favorable position in the new trade bloc. The proposed zone would cover a large portion of the Pacific Ocean, including the Philippines, Japan, and the United States. It would aim to eliminate trade barriers and promote economic growth in the region. The Philippines is seen as a key player in this initiative, given its strategic location and growing economy. The government is working closely with international partners to advance the proposal and ensure that the Philippines' interests are protected. The push for a Pacific trade zone is seen as a significant step towards regional integration and economic development.

Output rises, price pressures up

MANILA, Philippines — The Philippine economy is showing signs of recovery, with output rising and price pressures increasing. The Bureau of Economic Analysis reported that the economy grew by 2.1 percent in the third quarter of 2009. This growth was driven by a combination of factors, including a rebound in consumer spending and a recovery in the manufacturing sector. However, price pressures remain a concern, with inflation running at 3.5 percent. The government is closely monitoring the situation and is expected to implement measures to control inflation and maintain economic stability. The recovery is seen as a positive sign for the Philippines, but challenges remain, particularly in the areas of employment and income inequality. The government's response to these challenges will be crucial in determining the long-term success of the economic recovery.
